MINERS MEET AWFUL DEATH

Eleven Killed and the Fighting Not Yet Really Begun.

DAY OF RIOT AND BLOODSHED

Strikers Blow Up Mines with Giant Powder with Terrible Results-Armed Guards Being Massed at Victoria and a Battle Seems Inevitable—A Cannon to Be Used.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo , May 25 .- Eleven nen killed, with a strong probability that the number of dead will be increased when all is known, is the record of the first day of trouble here, although real fighting has not yet begun, as the deputies are awaiting reinnts before beginning active opera-work in the Strong mine on Battle mountain. Shortly afterward a large party of strikers blew up the shafthouse with powder, causing a loss of $25,000, and then dropped 100 pounds of giant powder down the shaft, which was also exploded, killing all the inmates,

Not more than three hundreds yards from the Strong shafthouse sixteen men who had been engaged to go to work in the Independence mine were surrounded in their bunkhouse and after a long parley agreed to surrender. Each one was armed with a rifle and a brace of revolvers. The arms are now in the possession of the strikers.

It is rumored that the strikers attacked the Anna Lee mine, overpowering the guards, after which they blew up the shafthouse, but the rumor has not been verified.

When the deputies are finally massed and When the deputies are finally massed and the two forces come together a most desperate battle will be doubtless fought. The situation at 6 o'clock to-night is one of the most painful anxiety. Not a few believe the town would be a smouldering mass by another sunset if the strikers be not restrained.

At Victoria, six miles away, fully 1,500 people reside. A reign of terror exists there. Within a balf mile of the corporation limits of the town all day long fully 800 union miners, armed with rifles have rareded in and down the town all day long fully 800 union miners, armed with rifles, have paraded up and down the side of the bill. Then occasionally a detour into the village would be made, and people whom the miners thought to be objectionable were ordered to leave the place. The guards from Denver, upon arrival at Victoria, went into camp on a neighboring bill. The strikers threw out a picket line entirely surrounding them, but at a distance that guarantees them safety from the deputies' rifles.

It is said that the strikers have planted under their breastworks on Bull Hill a quantity of dynamite, with the intention of blowing it up if it should be taken and occupied by the deputies.

e deputies, e of the largest mine owners in Colorado Springs is authority for the statement that the mine owners have planted a rifle cannon on a hill commanding the breastworks and that it will be used to dislodge the strikers from that position,

All sorts of rumors concerning the doings at the Strong mine are affoat. One is to the effect that the workmen were not killed, having been warned off by masked strikers. All telephone connection has been broken, and it is feared that telegraph wires will go next. The deputies from Denver have withdrawn to a less exposed position, where they will await reinforcements.

SMITH TALKED AN HOUR.

The Famous Heresy Case Dragging Its

Saratoga, N. Y., May 25.—The proceedings in the Smith case, which is an appeal against the heresy proceedings at Cincinnati, to-day reached the last order, and the members began to give expression to their individual views as the roll was called. Forty-five threeminute speeches were delivered, and the trend of opinion was shown by the fact that trend of opinion was shown by the fact that only eleven of them were in favor of sustaining the appeal. A comical feature of the proceedings consisted in the abrupt closing of many of these efforts occasioned by the fall of the Moderator's gavel. The proceedings concluded with a speech made by a member of the prosecuting committee, who was introduced as "a plain man and a farmer."

Professor Smith replied in the hour given him, and then the synod of Ohio, as the body appealed from, occupied sixty-six minutes.

him, and then the synod of Ohio, as the body appealed from, occupied sixty-six minutes. The calling of the roll of the assembly to give opportunity to be heard was then begun, and continued until adjournment.

The most effective speech was that of Elder McDougal, of Cincinnati, whose main contention was that to support the appeal was to approve the teachings of Dr. Briggs, and, he exclaimed, "Don't reverse the Briggs verdict." He called attention to the difference between judge and juryman and likened vertiet. He called attention to the differ-ence between judge and juryman and likened members of the assembly to judges. Expres-sions of opinion by them do not indicate prejudice. He insisted that the present was not a personal question, but one of principles, because it was the faith of the Church that was on trial.

Professor Smith was declared to hold that the decisions of the Portland and Washington assemblies were wrong and should be reversed. He was declared to have gone further than Dr. Briggs in his views, holding not than Dr. Briggs in his views, holding not only that errors may have been contained in the original scriptures, but even specifying them. He was also accused of throwing discredit, not only upon the books of the Bible, but also upon the author of the same, who, he claimed, was alleged by the confession, to be God himself. He closed by saying that if Professor Smith will retract his errors, the presbytery of Cincinnati will make haste to receive him again into full connection.

One of the other representatives of the synon of Ohio, Dr. Ludlow, of Cleveland, besought the assembly to remember that the church has always contained two parties, and that its present action may lend to division in the denomination.

Another Break At LaSalle, but It Was

LaSalle, Ills., May 25 .- Six companies the Third regiment, Illinois National Guard, under command of Col. The miners held a meeting in Turner hall this morning and speeches were made by Adjt. Gen. Orindorff, Mayor Matthiesson, and Hon. David Ross, who counselled the man to be calm and orderly. There was afterwards a "closed" meeting of the miners. The actions were then of a very victous and incendiary character, and it looked for some time as if there might be another riot, but thally the cooler heads persuaded them to be quiet. The thing that is now irritating the miners is the detention of the two of the last evening's rioters in the Ottawa jail, and if the evening's rioters in the Ottawa jail, and if the men are not given a speedy trial there will be

One man named Meisenbah became very abusive and received a prod with the bayonet, being subsequently thrown into the guardhouse. The attidude of the more unruly strikers is very threatening, and trouble may be looked for at any time.

ROOSEVELT REPLIES BACK.

He Says That Certain Things Said by Congressmen Are False.

Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt has se tee on Reform in the Civil Service, a letter con tee on Reform in the Civil Service, a letter con-taining a reply to attacks on the commission made by Congressmen Pendicton, of West Vir-ginia. Enloe, of Tennessee, and Stockdale and Williams, of Mississippi, during the recent de-bate in the House. Mr. Pendicton is quoted as saying that the commission is so organized that only the members of one political party have and Mr. Enloe, in the same connection, that he understood that nearly all the cierical force and that they mark the papers and pass upor the examinations of candidates.

and that they mark the papers and pass upon the examinations of candidates.

Mr. Rossevelt denounces the charges in these statements as unqualifiedly untrue, and challenges the production of a particle of proof in their support. He says: "I suggest that the committee hold an investigation as to the proof of this particular charge, and I shall be delighted to have only the Democratic members take part in the investigation on this particular point, and suggest that you call before you only the Democratic president of the commission and the Democratic subordinates of the commission.

Of the male clerks and examiners at present with the commission, including both the commission's own force and the detailed force, twelve are Democrats, sixteen are Republicans, two independents, three Prohibitionists, and one Populist."

Mr. Rossevelt points out that the commission is poweriess to determine the political complexion of the examining board, as most of its examiners are detailed to it from the departments. "As a matter of fort," he says, "in not one single instance has the commission or lis board of examiners ever discriminated for or against an eligible because of his political or religious opinions or affiliations, and any statement to the contrary is a deliberate and willful untruth."

* As regards the general subject. I should like to meet before your committee any Congressman making any accusations such as those in the recent debate of misconduct against the commission, and I challenge the production before you of a particle of proof in support of any such accusation."

Commissioner Rossevelt denounces as "wholly commission, and I challenge the production before you of a particle of proof in support of any such accusation.

Commissioner Roosevelt denounces as "wholly and absolitely untrue" the statement attributed to Mr. Stockulate, that the law for apportioning employes among the several states and territories according to population is being violated, and that the commission consents to its violation. He challenges Mr. Stockulate to appear before the Civil Service Committee, face to face with the commissioners, and prove his assertions. "H:" Mr. Roosevelt says. "he had listened to the speech of Congressman Crain, of Texas, or to that of Congressman Be Forest, of Connecticut, he would have been saved from making assertions for which there is not a particle of foundation in fact."

Congressman Williams, of Mississipl, attacked the commission in substance because under the commission white men and men of color are treated with exact inpartiality. As to this, Mr. Roosevelt says the commission does equal and exact justice to all; that it will not make, and so far as lies in its power will refuse to allow others to make any discrimination whatever on account of color, any more than because of politics and retigion. Concluding, he says:

"Under the last administration it was made a reproach to us that we did full and entire justice to the southern bemocrats, and that through our examinations many hundreds or them entered the classified service, although under a liepublican administration. Exactly is the same way it is not made a reproach to us that we did full and entire justice to the southern bemocrats, and that through our examinations ment hundreds or them entered the classified service, although under a liepublican administration. Exactly is the same way it is not made a reproach to us that become men are given an even chance with honest and capable colored men are given an even chance with honest and capable white men. I esteem this reproach a high coupilines to the commission has rigidly done its duty, as re pilred by

In answer to questions as to the motives for fraud Capitain Sampson said he believed the heads of the campany knew nothing of the operations. A Mr. schwab was general superintendent. He had told him that his men were willing to accept all his doctrues except that of reincarnation, which he thought might as well be left out when so practical a question as that of the want of bread confronted the people.

Coxey urged them to go into camp and remain here for the Summer, but to this Fitzgerald replied that it would be impracticable on account of the difficulty of securing sub-

Representative Terry, of Arkansas, drew the resolution, which if indorsed by the committee will be joffered to the House as an expression of its findings in the case, and practically amounts to a reprimand for the judge.

The bills, prepared by Representative Boatner, of Louisiana, are designed to limit the powers of United States judges to punish for contempt of court, and to prohibit them from enforcing the performance of contracts for personal services by writs of injunction.

Senators Hunton and Kyle Exonerated in the Bribery Investigation.

SUGAR TRUST CASE TAKEN UP

Mesers. Edmunds and Shriver Refuse to Give Further Information-Judge Dittenhoefer's Arguments That They Cannot Be Compelled to Reveal Their Informants' Names.

The Senate committee on the investigation of the attempted bribery of Senators Hunton and Kyle made its report yesterday, as fol-that a certain Charles W. Buttz, of North Dakota, but domiciled in Washington since Docember last, where he has been engaged as a lobbyist and claim agent, did, on or about the 1st of April of this year, at the house of Senator Hunton, in Warrenton, Va., during the absence of the Senator, say to his son, Eppa Hunton, jr., that he would pay him a contingent fee of $25,000 if he would, by presenting arguments as to the pending tariff bill, induce his father, Senator Hunton, to vote against it. This offer was declined at once and peremptorily by Eppa Hunton, jr., as set forth in his testimony, and the whole matter was communicated by him to his father. Senator Hunton availed himself of the first opportunity to disclose the matter to certain of his friends in the Senate, as appears in the testimony, and was in no other way connected with the transaction. It is also established by the testimony that the same Charles W. Buttz, during the month of March last past, approached Senator Kyle, of South Dakota, with a proposition that of South Dakota, with a proposition that $14,000 would be paid to him (Senator Kyle) if he would vote against the pending bill. The said Buttz, when making this proposi-tion, also stated to Senator Kyle that the money was in the hands or control of an agent of certain bankers and capitalists of New York city, and that the money was in Washington.

New York city, and that the money was in Washington.
Senator Kyle's testimony is confirmed by that of Mr. Duncan McFariane, clerk to the Committee on Education and Labor.
Senator Kyle is shown by the testimony to have communicated this interview with Buttz and the offer made to him to several Senators shortly after the said interview took piace.
Your committee are abundantly justified in stating that the facts above recited have been established by the evidence, notwithstanding the denial on the part of Charles W. Buttz, and they refer the Senate to the testimony in detail in support of this finding.
Your committee find nothing from their investigation to impeach in the least degree the honor or character of Senators Hunton and Kyle.

vestigation to impeach in the least degree the honor or character of Senators Hunton and Kyle.

There is no evidence to show the truth of Mr. Buth's statements to Mr. Kyle and to Mr. Eppa Hunton, jr., that a syndicate of bankers and capitalists had raised a sum of money to be used for the purpose of defeating the pending tariff bill, or that there was an agent of such a syndicate in Washington, or that any money was in Washington, or that any money was in Washington for that purpose. Buttz denies that he made any such statements, or that he had or has any knowledge of the existence of such a syndicate, or that he was the agent or representative of anyone. He further denies that he had any money himself.

The testimony of Buttz was of an almost incoherent character. It was impossible to make anything out of it, and therefore the committee decided to drop the investigation. In taking up the sugar trust charges, exJudge Dittenhoefer, of New York, the counsel for Mr. Edwards, better known as "Holland," of the Philladelphia Press, argued against compelling his client to reveal the names of his informants.

John Shriver, of the New York Mail and Express, was recalled a few minutes before Mr. Dittenhoefer's arrival, but only remained Express, was recalled a few minutes before with the committee long enough to reiterate his refusal to give the name of his authority and to say that he had placed his case in the hands of Judge Dittenhoefer.

Judge Dittenhoefer, in taking up the Edwards case, urged that a man could not be compelled to reveal a confidence. These excep-tions he declared to be in case of knowledge of treason against a man's own country, to save a human life, and to protect a woman's questions but to him:

First—That the question related to matters that were not referred to the committee for an investigation.

Second—That the questions required the witness to give the name of his informant.

Third—That under the Hallet Kilbourne decision either house of Congress has power to cision either house of Congress has power to compel a witness to answer only if the in-quiry relates to one of the following subjects: To punish a member for disorderly conduct; to compel the attendance of a member; in a case involving a question as to the election or qualification of a member, and in a matter of invacables.

Fourth—The resolution under which the Fourth—The resolution under which the committee was acting did not show on its face that the evidence was wanted for any legislative purpose or for any purpose within the jurisdiction of the Senate.

Fifth—That the information required might have a tendency to bring on criminal prosecutions against Mr. Edwards or his informant if his name was disclosed.

Sixth—That it would have a tendency to degrade Mr. Edwards as a newspaper man, as from the nature of his business he is obliged to receive communications given in confidence.

confidence.

The committee overruled Judge Dittenhoefer's objections, and again called Mr. Edwards in and repeated its demand that he give the names requested in the first instance, receiving his final decision not to comply with the demand. He was then excused, and the committee again went into secret session.

ceiving his final decision not to comply with the demand. He was then excused, and the committee again went into secret session.

The committee took up the question presented by the refusal of the newspaper men to respond to the questions, and has not yet decided upon a course of action. There would seem to be but two coursee, either of which the committee can pursue in view of the absolute refusal of the witnesses to testify in response to the questions put. They either can pass the point over and drop the proceeding in that direction or report the situation to the Senate, where the duty of determining whether the witnesses can be compelled to testify will devoive upon the Senate itself.

If the Senate should decide to make an effort to compel an answer the witnesses would be brought before the bar of the Senate and the committee's questions to them repeated by the Vice President. If in that case the witnesses should adhere to their determination not to answer the Senate would decide whether they should be punished, and in case of a decision to imprison the witnesses
they could appeal to the courts of the District through habeas corpus proceedings on the question of jurisdiction, and in case the decision in the lower courts should sustain the Senate decision, there would still remain an cision in the lower courts should sustain the Senate decision, there would still remain an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.
